Biography

Katie joined Lloyds PR Solicitors as a paralegal in July 2025 and is an aspiring criminal barrister. She works on Crown Court and Magistrates' court cases.

In 2022, she graduated from the University of Cambridge with a BA in English. Last year, she completed an MA Law Conversion with the University of Law receiving a distinction. She is currently completing the bar course with Inns of Court College of Advocacy.

Before joining Lloyds PR, Katie worked as a financial crime paralegal. She has significant experience working on POCA and complex fraud matters, as well as account freezing orders. Katie has also worked as a legal editor for the online legal database (formerly known as) vLex Global Markets, predominantly editing key judgments across all areas of law.

Alongside her professional and academic endeavours, she is a prison mentor for the student-led initiative Vocalise which teaches debating skills to inmates. She is also on the communications committee for the Women in Criminal Law.
