Biography

A duty solicitor with an illustrious career spanning 17 years, Nadeem is highly sought after for exceptional client care and a brilliant command of criminal law. His work at all levels of the criminal justice process is well respected in the areas of Hertfordshire, Thames Valley and Greater London. In particular, his reputation spans for defending some of Britain's most serious cases involving complex legal and evidential facets. Nadeem's practice is exclusively criminal defence. From the initial police station representation to a full-fledged jury trial at the Crown Court, he fearlessly makes robust representations to achieve the best possible outcome for his client.

There is a shared sentiment amongst fellow duty solicitors that 'when Nadeem shakes a client's hand, they will want him until the very end'. With resilient client care, the Hertfordshire based lawyer fights for people alleged with fraud, money laundering, serious sexual offences, drug-related offences and cybercrime.

Nadeem bears a strong work etiquette, which is sincere and based on excellent care for every defendant. His vast and trusted client base has been built through representations made in high profile cases at all levels of the justice process. And his reputation, which voices the outstanding results achieved at the conclusion of the case, serves as a testament to the dedication, client care and command of the law and criminal justice system. When required, he is a forceful defence solicitor but is equally at ease when dealing with vulnerable and juvenile clients. He can analyse complex and extensive evidence related to grave offences to get to the heart of the matter and put forward a defence leaving no stones unturned.

His clients are well engaged and never hesitate to follow his expert advice throughout the case. Nadeem dissects complicated evidence into an easy-to-understand format for his clients whilst fearlessly advancing their interests before the authorities.
